A. G. CURTIN DYING.

Pennsylvania's War Governor at Death's Door.

DISTINGUISHED PUBLIC SERVICES

His Efforts in Behalf of President Lincoln's Nomination and Election—Appointed Minister to Russia by President Grant—Afterward Served in Congress.

BELLEFONTE, Pa., Oct. 5.—Ex-Governor Andrew G. Curtin, who has been seriously ill for some time, has suffered a relapse and it is stated that his death is but a question of a few hours.

Andrew Gregg Curtin was the chief executive of the Keystone state during the civil war, and because his services to his country were so great then he is chiefly known as Pennsylvania's "war governor." But his public services, aside from those he rendered during the great contest, were of sufficient importance to have given a lesser man lasting fame. He served in congress for several years, he represented the United States government for three years at the court of the czar of all the Russias, and he was a lawyer of extended practice.

He was a native of Bellefonte, and was born April 22, 1815. His father, who was from County Clare, Ireland, established one of the first iron manufactories in Pennsylvania. He was educated at the common schools of Bellefonte and the academy at Milton, and when he had finished the course of the latter institution two professions were open to him—the law and the ministry. He chose the former and was admitted to the bar in 1839. He won his first case and quickly built up a good practice.

It was during the campaign of 1840, when he was but 24 years of age, that young Curtin took the stump for William Henry Harrison. Four years later he was even more prominent in the canvass for Henry Clay. In 1848 and 1852 he was a Whig elector. In 1854 he was considered one of the leaders of his party, and his nomination for governor was strongly urged that year. He declined the honor because of Henry Pollock, an old schoolmate, desired a re-election and worked for his renomination and election with unbounded zeal. Pollock was elected and Curtin became his secretary of state.

The Republican party was at that time in its formative state, and Curtin was one of its chief spirits. He was desirous of securing the Republican nomination for governor in 1860, and backed by Thaddeus Stevens, Joshua A. Grow, Alexander K. McClure, John W. Forney and Matthew Stanley Quay, all of them then young men, but strong in the councils of the new party, he won in the convention and was elected by a majority of 32,000 votes.

His first acts after his nomination were turned toward the national Republican nominating convention at Chicago. Everything seemed to point to the nomination of Seward, but along with David Dudley Field, Thaddeus Stevens, Horace Greeley, David Wilmot and others Mr. Curtin did not believe Seward's nomination would be likely to bring out the entire strength of the party at the polls, and he joined the other gentlemen named in the fight for Lincoln's nomination.

The state contest closed in Pennsylvania in October and was no less exciting than the national canvass. "As goes Pennsylvania, so goes the union," was the cry everywhere. Mr. Curtin took to the stump as soon as he returned from Chicago, and his labors were incessant until the close of the state campaign. The victory won then went a long way toward insuring national victory in November.

Governor Curtin was inaugurated Jan. 1, 1861, and was immediated confronted with unprecedented difficulties. It was evident that the south would revolt. Curtin first met Lincoln on Feb 22 at Harrisburg. The president-elect was on his way to Washington, and at a private conference, at which Governor Curtin was present, the startling news was told that a plot against Lincoln's life had been discovered. Governor Curtin invited Lincoln to spend the night at his house, and to allay suspicion left the remainder of the presidential party at the hotel. Instead of taking the president to his house, Curtin drove with him to the outskirts of the town, where a special train was in waiting.

Shortly after his inauguration President Lincoln called Governor Curtin to Washington and asked him to recognize the existence of civil war in a message to the Pennsylvania legislature. This Curtin did in a document that, considering the haste with which it was prepared and all the attendant circumstances, must be regarded as one of the strongest of modern state papers. Within forty eight hours the legislature had authorized the governor to raise and equip troops for the defense of the Union, and had appropriated half a million dollars to pay the bills.

When Lincoln called for 75,000 men, the soldiers of Pennsylvania were the first state volunteers to reach the national capital. Then Governor Curtin asked and obtained from the legislature power to raise a reserve of not less than fifteen nor more than thirty regiments to serve for three years or till the close of the war, the forces to be transferred to the general government if necessary. These troops preserved their identity intact until the close of the war.

The conference of the governors at Altoona Sept. 24, 1862, was the result of correspondence between Curtin and Governor Andrew, of Massachusetts. Its outcome was the famous address indorsing Lincoln's emancipation proclamation.

Throughout the war Governor Curtin supported Mr. Lincoln's policy unswervingly. He left the gubernatorial chair in 1867 and was shortly afterward mentioned for United States senator, but was defeated by Simon Cameron. He was also named for vice president in the convention of 1868, but Colfax secured the nomination.

Mr. Curtin worked earnestly for the election of Grant and Colfax that year, and was made minister to Russia by the president. In 1881 he was elected to congress as a Democrat, serving six years. At the close of the Forty-ninth congress he retired to his Bellefonte home.

BRITISH TROOPS FOR CHINA

Sixty-four Thousand Soldiers to be Sent from India.

LONDON, Oct. 5.—A dispatch to The Times from Shanghai says: Four Japanese warships have been sighted between Ning-Po and Chusan. News received from Tientsin denies that the Chinese have evacuated Corea. It also denies that the Japanese forces are near Yalu, or that they are occupying Thornton Haven. Chinese transports are said to be moving freely in the Gulf of Pe-Chi-Li.

The Chinese warships at Port Arthur, with the exception of the Lai Yuen, will soon be refitted for sea. The Lai Yuen was found on her arrival there to have been almost entirely destroyed by fire as a result of her participation in the battle off the Yalu.

The British consuls at Hankow and Ning-Po sent alarming dispatches to the government on Tuesday and Wednesday, reporting disturbances in those places, and stating that the European residents were in peril.

The Exchange Telegraph company says that 64,000 troops will be sent from India to protect the treaty ports in China.

The Evening News publishes a sensational statement to the effect that a cabinet council was called to consider a dispatch received from Minister O'Connor at Pekin, in which it was stated that Russia was intriguing to assist China against Japan in return for the cession to Russia of certain ports of Corea. There is no confirmation of this statement from other sources.

THE DRAYTON DIVORCE SUIT

Mrs. Drayton Will Enter a General Denial of Her Husband's Charges.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—Mrs. J. Coleman Drayton yesterday made her first public statement regarding the divorce suit against her through her counsel, Herbert A. Shipman.

"Mrs. Drayton will certainly file a reply to her husband's suit," said Mr. Shipman. "There has never for a moment been any doubt about that. The question of when her reply will be entered has been left entirely to the judgment of her counsel. All the reports that the time had expired or would expire, that she would allow judgment to be taken by default and that she would not defend the suit, have been and are wickedly untrue. Mrs. Drayton's reply will be a full and absolute denial of each and every allegation of her husband's complaint."

Mr. Drayton is living quietly at Bernardsville, N. J., with his children, after having spent the summer at Bar Harbor. Mrs. Drayton is supposed to be in Paris. The Astor family is scattered about at various fall resorts.

Firm determination to fight the case has now been expressed by both sides, and a complete airing of the whole affair will probably occur soon in the courts at Trenton.

To Protect Our Citizens.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—Secretary Herbert has been forehanded in taking steps for the protection of the lives and property of American residents in China, believed now to be endangered by rebellious and unrestrained troops. The cable advices stating that the European powers are moving in that direction were shown to the secretary, who said that about three weeks ago he had suggested to Admiral Carpenter to confer with the commanders of foreign ships in Chinese waters and arrange to co-operate with them if possible. The plan was to have one or two ships at each of the treaty ports and other coast towns where foreigners reside.

Republican Predictions.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—Hon. J. S. Clarkson, of the Republican national committee, who has just returned from the west, is enthusiastic when he speaks of the situation in that section. He declares that the Wilson bill will redound to the advantage of the Republican party, principally for the reason that the westerners cannot stand free wool. For New Jersey, Committeeman Hobart prophesies that the Republicans will elect five of the eight congressmen to be voted for this fall.

KILLED BY ELECTRICITY.

While Attempting to Rescue the Unfortunate Another Man Meets Death.

BOSTON, Oct. 5.—A horrible case of electrocution was witnessed on Congress street by hundreds of people. Charles E. Day, a lamp trimmer in the employ of the Boston Electric Light company, was cleaning a lamp, and hand hitched himself to the top of the pole, when attention was called to him by a faint cry.

Day was then seen to be helpless and unconscious. In a few seconds he was limp, and a blue flame was emitting from his eyes, nose, mouth and ears.

Several of the onlookers tried to get up the pole, and one young man succeeded in touching the body, when he dropped to the ground receiving painful injuries.

After a considerable delay two men appeared on the scene with an ambulance. One of them, A. J. Mumes, started up the pole and reached Day's body, when suddenly he received a shock and fell thirty feet to the ground, striking on his head and fracturing his skull. He died shortly afterwards.

It was more than an hour before Day's body, now terribly burned, was lowered and taken to the morgue. The accident is said to have been due to a dead wire coming in contact with some of the wires, thus diverting the current.

A MURDERER'S CONFESSION.

Killed His Victim at the Command of Her Father.

RALEIGH, N. C., Oct. 5.—George Mills, who has been on trial for the seduction and murder of his niece, confessed the crime last evening. He told a story full of the most horrible details. How, at the instance of the girl's father, who had said to him, "Take Iana away and never bring her back here alive." He had induced her to accompany him to an old, unoccupied house. Here he told her to take the contents of a bottle and it would produce an abortion, the girl having been betrayed. The drug was laudanum.

Mills then struck her seven times with a club. She screamed and pleaded, but no one could hear her. He returned with the tale that some body had murdered "Iana" and threatened to kill him. The girl lived ten days, but never regained consciousness. Mills is almost an idiot. His trial will continue, notwithstanding his confession.

Jack Wimbesle was jailed last evening. He was the principal witness against Mills. Now Mills will be the principal witness against him.

Honoring Admiral Benham.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 5.—A gathering of distinguished men filled the Union League club house last night to do honor to Rear Admiral Andrew E. K. Benham, of the United States navy, in recognition of his services to the nation during the Brazilian rebellion. The admiral arrived from New York early in the afternoon, and at 8 o'clock was welcomed to the league. He was escorted there by the Veteran corps of the First regiment. President John Russell Young then presented to the admiral the Union League's gold medal as a mark of special honor for his services to his country, and the admiral in reply made a speech of thanks. An elaborate banquet followed the reception.

The Evangelical Church Row.

SHAMOKIN, Pa., Oct. 5.—Rev. J. W. Boyer, the Bowman-Esherite pastor of this Evangelical circuit, has demanded possession of the church properties in Shamokin, Sunbury, Herndon, Treverton, Mt. Carmel and Seven Points, but his request was refused. He will now apply for an injunction restraining the Dubbsites from holding services in the properties in question. The Dubbsites are in a large majority at all of these places, and will organize independent congregations.

Denouncing the A. P. A.

DENVER, Oct. 5.—In his October pastoral Bishop Matz says the church in Colorado is passing through an appalling crisis. "It is," he says, "sectarian bigotry which, led on by a set of fanatics, bids fair to outdo the followers of Cromwell and the maniacs of the French commune. It is a fact which has called forth the amazement of the most remarkable men of our time, that an age like ours and a country over which floats the American flag should have fostered this A. P. A."

Flying Jib the Champion Pacer.

CHILLICOTHE, O., Oct. 5.—The fair grounds were filled to overflowing yesterday with 10,000 people. Flying Jib went against the world's pacing record of 2.01¾, made by Westmont, with running mate, at Chicago ten years ago. The pacer went at a terrific clip, leading the runner to the half, made in 59 seconds. Rounding the turn he kept up close to the three-quarter pole, and shot under the wire in 1.58¾, the fastest mile ever paced.

UNIFORMED BRIGANDS.

Further Startling Evidence Before the Lexow Committee.

CHARGES AGAINST AN INSPECTOR.

A Woman Who Had Been Profusely "Bled" Declares That Some of the Money Went to Captain, Now Inspector McLaughlin.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—"Commodore Gerry has sailed in here under full blast, and is now running down this committee because in a stray puff of wind we ran across his bowsprit yesterday. I would respectfully suggest that when he comes before this committee he come with a pilot who is familiar with the rocks and shoals, with which he is evidently unfamiliar."

It was in this facetious and nautical fashion that Chief Counsel Goff alluded to the refusal of Commodore Gerry, president of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, to take an oath at the Lexow committee hearing yesterday. Mr. Gerry had prepared a long type written statement, and he insisted upon reading it. Mr. Goff insisted that the evidence presented to the committee must be sworn to. Then there was a war of words. Mr. Gerry accused the members and counsel of the committee of assaulting the work of the society. Mr. Goff insisted that the society had not been attacked, but he thought that the powers given to Mr. Gerry and his assistants were arbitrary.

Mr. Gerry said that Mr. Goff was trying to make political capital out of the attack, the name of the chief counsel having been suggested for mayor by the anti-Tammany organizations at a meeting Wednesday night. Mr. Goff retorted that if he was a candidate that Mr. Gerry, whose name has been mentioned in this connection, would do well to look after his own chances. Mr. Gerry finally went way without reading his statement, and the regular examination of witnesses continued.

During the morning session much testimony similar to that which had been already adduced was produced—of levies and attempted levies for "police protection," of brutal assaults by officers on unoffending citizens, and of arrests on trumped up charges of keeping disorderly houses when the "boodle" was not forthcoming. Thomas Lucas, who had been brutally clubbed by Officer Bernard A. Dunn, presented a sickening spectacle, but told his story of the assault without a break. Dunn, on the other hand, contradicted himself many times, and many of his statements were so evidently a tissue of lies that they excited the indignation of all who heard them.

At the afternoon session a little woman dressed in black took the stand. Mr. Goff prefaced her examination with a remarkable statement. "This morning," said he, "an attempt was made to get this woman out of the country." Mr. Goff did not go into details then. He drew from the witness how she had lavished her money on ex-Wardman Frank Wilson, formerly under Captain Allaire. She was the keeper of a house of ill fame on Elizabeth street. Under threats of "pulling" the house, he got from her about everything she possessed. She furnished his house, bought a silver set, diamond rings for his wife and clothing for his children. Wilson, she said, resigned from the force the day the committee opened its campaign. He was now living in Philadelphia.

Then came a sensation. Inspector McLaughlin's name was dragged in. McLaughlin was formerly captain of the Eleventh precinct. The woman swore that she paid $300 initiation fee to Wardman Burns under Captain McLaughlin. Every month she paid $50 to Burns. When Burns wanted a diamond stud he got $165 from her to purchase it. She said she was now broken down and penniless. Her money had gone into the police coffers.

Referring to the Gerry society agents, she said they collected money from all houses where girls under age were kept. Mr. Goff made the most of this bit of testimony. She told how Captain Cross had trapped Gerry agents Becker and Finn when they took $500 from her. The men were brought to trial. Becker was acquitted, Finn sent to prison for nine months. Becker escaped, she said, because he was the son-in-law of Superintendent Jenkins of the society. When she left New York the witness said she opened a saloon in Newark, and was raided by the the police. She went to Captain Cross and he sent Alderman Smith, of this city, to Newark, and the police there gave her protection. She is now penniless, and lives in Brooklyn.

"This morning," said she, "a man came up to me and said you are subpœned to go before the Lexow committee. 'How do you know?' I asked. 'I know,' he answered. 'You go right up to Inspector McLaughlin, and he will buy you off. Don't go before the Lexow committee.' I refused his advice."

When asked by Mr. Goff about how much she had paid to the police she answered, "From $8,000 to $10,000."

Warden James W. Ledwith, of Jefferson Market prison, was then hauled over the coals for visiting David Pender, a green goods man, on Blackwell's Island.

Pender was mentioned in the testimony of Applegate, and it appears that the warden, who is a friend of Detective Sergeant Hanley, interested himself in order to get a statement from Pender which would help Hanley. He was taken to task for improper practices in his prison. He was charged with favoring certain lawyers, and that the beer can was permitted to be "rushed" at night.

An adjournment was then taken until Tuesday.

HOWGATE AT WASHINGTON

Placed in the Cell Once Occupied by Guiteau, the Assassin.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—Captain Howgate, the defaulting ex-chief of the signal service, was brought back to Washington yesterday after an absence of thirteen years. He arrived at 4:30 o'clock in charge of a United States marshal and ex-Chief Drummond, of the secret service, who effected his capture. He showed little concern, chatting and smiling with the officers as he passed along. He was poorly dressed and his face looked haggard.

The party drove to the office of the United States marshal for the District of

CAPTAIN HENRY W. HOWGATE.

Columbia, where a deputy and Miss Ida Howgate, daughter of the prisoner, were awaiting. He greeted his daughter affectionately, but quietly, and without dramatic demonstration. Mrs. Howgate, who lives here, was not present. When the formal papers had been arranged Captain Howgate was put in the prison van and driven to the jail. He was assigned to cell No. 2 in murderers' row, which is the cell once occupied by Guiteau. The prisoner will not be arraigned for several days. He said he had no statement to make to the public at present.

The Populist Gains in Georgia.

ATLANTA, Oct. 5.—The Constitution publishes returns compiled by its correspondents in all the 137 counties of Georgia placing the Democratic majority at 30,000, but the official county consolidations reduces it to 20,000, which is accepted by conservative Democrats. The Populist claim that the country counties, which will be last heard from, will reduce this majority to 10,000. Of 175 members of the house elected about sixty are Populists, and of the forty-four senators seven are Populists and one Republican. Several of the strongest Democratic counties in the state have been carried by the Populists, and nearly every county shows Populist gains. Speaker Crisp's district gives the largest Democratic majority.

Harrison Would Not Decline.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Oct. 5.—Mr. Burton, general manager of the Daniels Steel Tie company, who has just returned from Terre Haute, reports that in a conversation with Russell Harrison the latter said, replying to a question whether his father would enter the list for the presidential nomination: "As an active candidate, I think not, but should there be an expression from the people that father is their choice it is not probable he would decline the candidacy and nomination."

Fatal Fire in Texas.

TAYLOR, Tex., Oct. 5.—The Oklahoma hotel, a two story frame structure, and its contents were burned yesterday. After the flames had been subdued the firemen discovered in the debris the remains of a man burned to a crisp. They proved to be those of Henry Marz, a journeyman house and sign painter. Richard Schultz, a carpenter, was nearly suffocated, and in leaping from a second story window broke an arm and dislocated a shoulder. It is doubtful whether he will recover.

The Czar May Go to Algiers.

LONDON, Oct. 5.—The Standard's correspondent at St. Petersburg suggests that the czar may ultimately go to Algiers. He says the emeror's symptoms point to cancer of the kidneys, and adds that public rumor ascribes his illness to excessive blood letting which he has undergone at the hands of Dr. Zacharin. Another dispatch states that the czar's condition is so bad that the end may be expected in a few weeks.

Judge Trumbull a Populist.

CHICAGO, Oct. 5.—It is announced that Judge Lyman Trumbull is in sympathy with the Populist party, and will deliver an address at one of its mass meetings in Central Music hall tomorrow night. He will address the Populists on "the rights of man as affected by accumulated wealth and favored monopolies." Judge Trumbull has long been regarded as a staunch Democrat.

BALTIMORES BEATEN.

They Lose the First Game in the Temple Cup Series.

BITTERNESS BETWEEN PLAYERS.

It May Result in the Abandonment of the Proposed Series—The Baltimore Men Greatly Dissatisfied with the Conditions Surrounding the Trophy.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 5.—The first game of the Temple cup series played here yesterday was a good exhibition of scientific and fast ball playing. The New Yorks won, with Rusie in the box. He had terrific speed and thorough control of the ball, and the men back of him kept up their end. Esper, for the Orioles, pitched winning ball and was well supported. The inability to hit Rusie was the cause of the result. There were several features of the game that could have been eliminated to the credit of both teams. McGraw was the principal offender.

Owing to the stormy weather and a doubt of the series being played only about 9,000 of the expected crowd entered the grounds. The final agreement to play the series of games was made only a few minutes before the game was called. The game was played on the basis arranged by the National League committee—65 per cent. of receipts to the winner, 35 per cent. to the loser. McCraw was the only one that held out for an equal division, and his temper throughout the game was not of the best.

Both teams showed intense feeling. A close decision in the ninth inning by Emslie, which cut off Baltimore's hope of pulling victory out of the fire, caused a crowd to get after Emslie as soon as the game was over. The police, however, quickly dispersed the crowd. The features of the game were the double plays by McGraw, Reitz and Brouthers, in the first inning, and a great catch by Van Haltren in the fourth inning. Captains Ward and Robinson distinguished themselves in fielding.

A big delegation of rooters from New York witnessed the game and made merry with tin horns.

Owing to the present intense feeling between the two clubs it is not unlikely that the series of games may be abandoned, though it is given out that a game will be played this afternoon.

Following is the score by innings of yesterday's game:

	R.	H.	E.
New York	0 0 0 0 1 1 1 1 0—4	13	2

No Anti-Tammany Ticket Yet.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—In spite of the numerous conferences which have been held between the committee of seventy and the independent organizations of the city, tending to concentrate upon one citizen's ticket for the coming municipal election, nothing definite has yet been accomplished. A general conference of all the interested organizations was held, and although John W. Goff was named as the choice of the committee of seventy as candidate for mayor nothing was done.

After Geissenhainer's Seat.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Oct. 5.—The Republicans of the Third congressional district of New Jersey, comprising Middlesex, Monmouth and Somerset counties, nominated Benjamin F. Howell, of this city, for congress by acclamation yesterday afternoon. Mr. Howell was once surrogate of Middlesex county, and is president of the People's National bank of New Brunswick.

Crashed Into a Street Car.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 5.—As a freight train on the Wabash road was leaving the city last night it crashed into and demolished an electric car in the western suburbs. The car was smashed into kindling wood. Of the passengers in the car six were seriously injured. Mary Cravett and Dora Russell, both colored, and Motorman Charles Thrailkill will probably die.

The Tin Plate Industry.

ANDERSON, Ind., Oct. 5.—Ground was broken yesterday for the National Tin Plate mill. Six mills are to be in operation within ninety days, and six more within eighteen months. This will make one of the largest tin plate plants in the United States. The National Plate company has been incorporated, with a capital of $150,000.

A Singular Fatality.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 5.—An infant son of Charles Baker, of Wyndmoor, Montgomery county, was playing on a folding bed when a spring gave way, and the bed closed up, breaking the child's neck.

AMBITIOUS ATLANTA.

SHE IS PREPARING A GRAND EXPOSITION FOR 1895.

Hopes to Rival the Chicago Fair In Some Particulars—Description of the Buildings and Grounds—Natural Advantages of the Empire City of the South.

Atlanta has girded up her loins and worked with a will, all the people as one man, in making ready for her great exposition of 1895. The cornerstone of the Administration building was recently laid with imposing ceremonies, all the officials, all the civic and social orders in the city and nearly all the citizens taking part, and it is intended that just one year from that ceremony the exposition shall open—to wit, on Sept. 18, 1895.

The Administration building, designed by Walter T. Downing of Atlanta, is to have a central hall, 50 by 100 feet in extent, and two side wings, the former with an elevation of 60 feet. It will occupy a commanding position and be probably the most striking feature of the exposition grounds. It is a general imitation of the old southern home, with immense pillars at the front and a southern aspect throughout. The central or double story portion is designed for use chiefly as an art gallery, while the rooms for officials and the press are on the sides.

The other buildings are to be chiefly Romanesque and of the following dimensions: The Manufacturers' building, 370 by 216 and 60 feet high, with a tower reaching 100 feet from the ground—the largest building on the grounds except the great Government building; the Machinery building, 100 by 500 and 65 feet high; the Agricultural building, 300 by 150 and 60 feet high, with a 100 foot tower; the Minerals and Forestry building, 80 by 320, with general elevation of 35 feet and a central octagonal tower 60 feet high; the Electricity building, 91 by 350, and elevation of 60 feet, with a 100 foot tower. The grounds are far more diversified in every way than those of the Chicago exposition, and though Lake Michigan is necessarily absent yet it is believed that other features of the topography will more than compensate for that.

The city is 1,080 feet above sea level, and the summers are singularly cool, while autumn is dry and bracing beyond description. The drainage is ideally perfect. Every rod of ground for a day's ride in any direction from the city is of historic interest. To the west are the blue mountains, to the east and south the gently rolling hills. The city is a happy combination of northern and southern in its structure and includes all civilized races in its population. Owing to the topography, each principal building will occupy a commanding eminence, and from the towers one can overlook those fields where so many soldierly reputations were made and so many soldierly careers ended just 31 years before.

There will be special features of rare interest, the most important being an exhibit by the colored people. It will be the first of the kind and will be a valuable proof to the world of what progress the freedmen have made. General J. R. Lewis, formerly of the federal army, has taken great interest in the matter, has procured lists of the colored men in the several states who will take action, and these will form state organizations. The special committee in charge of this branch consists of W. H. Venable, owner of the Stone mountain granite quarries; ex-Governor Rufus B. Bullock, General Clement A. Evans, and J. G. Oglesby, president of the Commercial club. Congress has granted an appropriation of $200,000 for the government exhibit, and if practicable the government building of the Chicago exposition will be removed and set up in its entirety at Atlanta.

Of the six main buildings, the contract for five was let to Mr. Bradford L. Gilbert of New York, and that for the Administration building to Mr. Walter T. Downing of Atlanta. Mr. Gilbert built the great Illinois Central depot at Chicago, which cost $2,000,000 and is said to have been put through from cornerstone to the crown of the spires in shorter time than any other building of equal size in the world. He is quite an enthusiast over the site and says it gives greater possibilities than any other exposition ground in the world. His design for the Machinery building is rather new in the line of exposition structures. It is to be simple cube in the interior, giving the largest available space, with an exterior finish, having a touch of the renaissance, and large porticoes, with immense pillars on each of the four sides. "It is my aim," he says, "to construct a building whose size will not be apparent at first, but which will grow on the observer."

Atlanta is a very new city, with—well, by the opening of the exposition its population will be about 100,000, of whom one-third are colored. Though survivors of the Confederate army are now but few in the south compared with the general population, yet there will be reunions of various old commands, and as the yearly meeting of the Grand Army of the Republic will be held at Louisville next September an earnest effort will be made to have the entire body go to Atlanta. If it does, there will be the grandest reunion of the blue and gray ever held.

Dollars or Kicks

for women, according to whether they do, or don't do, their washing in a sensible way. If they use Pearline, it means good, hard dollars saved. Pearline is economy. All that ruinous rubbing that makes you buy linens and flannels twice as often as you need to, is spared, to say nothing of your time and labor.

See the troubles that women have to endure with other ways of washing. There's that hard, wearing-out rub, rub, rub, or the danger of ruining things with acids if you try to make it easy. Washing with Pearline is absolutely safe.

Send it Back Peddlers and some unscrupulous grocers will tell you "this is as good as" or "the same as Pearline." IT'S FALSE—Pearline is never peddled, and if your grocer sends you something in place of Pearline, be honest—send it back. 418 JAMES PYLE, New York.

"America's Greatest Men and Women."

AMERICA'S GREATEST MEN AND WOMEN.

MR. WILSON TALKS.

MY Name is Wilson; I do an insurance business on LaSalle street, in Chicago Ill., and I live in Evanston, Ill. Evanston is what was originally a scattering population on a pretty point on Lake Michigan, esteemed years ago far from the city of Chicago, but now one of the varied towns which may go within it by vote of the population.

I am married and have a wife and one child. That child is a boy (I suppose I should feel the same solicitude if it was a girl), and I have a father's natural fancies as to what must be the best thing to give that child the right kind of intelligence, and so divert his course that he may succeed in life. I have studied a great deal upon the subject. My own experience would not be of great value, because I have succeeded only to the limit of the average man and am barely established; still, I own the house and lot upon which I live, and am feeling perfectly safe in meeting the exigencies of the year. I want the boy to take a broader view than I did, to be a bigger man in the world. I have studied how to teach him to do that, and he has done pretty well, as far as the preliminaries go. Now, I have thought over what I should say to him and have sometimes been puzzled. I could not very well tell him what to do. I wanted to tell him what I needed but what I did not learn myself when I was of his age, and what my father did not know how to tell me, or else was not thoughtful enough to do so. I wanted to tell him how to follow the example of those who have succeeded at the present time and under the circumstances which ordinarily affect a young man struggling in this Republic established on this comparatively new world to-day. I wanted to tell him just what he had better do to get along well, and to point out to him what had been done by the people who were successful at the present time.

Of course, the record of the people of any time past would not be of so much value, because circumstances must necessarily have been different when they were alive. I feel confident, though, that if I could learn, some way and somehow, what the people who are so successful to-day have done and how they did it, I could give to my boy such advice as would make his own life at least as far removed from failure as justified by the natural ability he may possess.

I looked around for some authority which I might consult in order to give him the facts most essential with this idea of mine in mind, but I could find none until I discovered that a great publishing firm in Chicago had decided to bring out a book giving the photographs of all the people who are prominent in America to-day. Here was what I wanted. The book, as I have learned, is going to be published in 16 parts, 16 pages to each, with a recent photograph on each page of some active leading American man or woman of to-day, while underneath appears the story of that same person's life—the story telling what that person did, and how the ends attained were eventually accomplished. Here was what I wanted; here was what I needed in various ways; here was what I was certainly seeking in order to obtain the information with which to educate my boy and secure for him that knowledge which will give him a source of thought and make him prominent in the world.

I have the first sheets of this work. It is a graphic story of America's Greatest Men and Women, told in each instance on a single page underneath a photograph of recent date, which conveys to the eye an idea of what that person is. To me the photograph tells even more than the suggestive record beneath; and yet it is odd how in each instance the correct story corresponds with the expression upon the face which is reproduced in the portrait above. I do not know how the series will end. I know very little about this new feature of the newspaper people; I know nothing about the publishers and their expectations, but I do know this: that if the series so begun should be continued to its practical, ordinary good sense end—and I don't care whether that will include 200 or 700 of America's Greatest Men and Women, which is the title of the book—I do know this, that for the ordinary, active and alert business man—I will certainly say far more for the student or the literary man, or the politician or the statesman—for all these I will say it will be simply the most valuable and the most remarkable book produced in modern history. The wonder is that some one has not thought of it before. Yet no one seems to have done so since the days of Plutarch. Plutarch knew something. That shrewd old fellow knew that all who would get out of the drift, all who would accomplish great things, wanted to know every detail of the lives of those who had better luck or more courage or a broader brain than their fellows; but I am no authority on these points. I only know that there is produced a second Plutarch's Lives, that its biographies are shrewd, graphic and curt, and written without bias and without prejudice. I only know that there was a Plutarch—God bless the old fellow—and that there is this modern work.

This is the work I am going to give to my boy. I am going to make him read it thoroughly. The work is announced as consisting of 16 Parts, with 16 pages and 16 photographs in each part, and when bound, the whole series will make a great volume of 256 pages, the like of which has never been equaled. It is the story of the personal character of the men and women who are making the nation's history at this particular time. What a work this is! Do you imagine that I would miss it for my boy, or, incidentally, for myself?

TALKED WITH THE GRAND LAMA.

Dr. Hensoldt Is the Only White Man to Claim That Distinction.

Dr. Heinrich Hensoldt is said to be the only white man who has conversed with the Hindoo Dalai Lama, or alleged incarnation of Bodhi-Sattva, the avatar, and commonly called the grand lama. Now, if the doctor were a mere adventurer, his story might be passed as a romance, but he is a very eminent scholar, proficient in a dozen languages, and before going to India was for six years lecturer on geology in Columbia college. When Dr. Goldschmidt started on his tour of exploration in Ceylon in 1875, he took Dr. Hensoldt with him because of the latter's knowledge of Sanskrit, the sacred language of India and parent of the Brahmanical and Hindoostanee tongues as well as of Pracrit, Poli and other local dialects. He qualified as a Hindoo devotee and determined to penetrate Tibet. The great plain of that country in which stands Lassa, the religious capital, is some 12,000 feet above sea level, and many months' residence is necessary to enable a lowlander to travel there and breathe with comfort. To this difficulty must be added the fierce determination of the people to exclude unbelievers. In 1845 two French missionaries in disguise reached Lassa and returned, but did not see the grand lama. Others have lost their lives in the attempt. For unknown ages the visible deity has dwelt in the golden temple unseen, save by his priests. When one dies, his successor is at once made known by the priests. He is always a boy of less than 10 years, supposed to be divinely selected, and when the divinity enters him he at once names the day of his death.

DR. HENSOLDT.

Dr. Hensoldt, disguised as a Hindoo, reached the city, and the Dalai Lama sent for him. The doctor found the deity a boy of 7 or 8 years, yet the latter addressed him at once in German. "The lama," says the doctor, "speaks every tongue. Usually he did not wait for me to speak, but answered my thought just as if I had spoken. He discussed botany, microscopy and various other departments of modern science in a way which made me, with my western education, feel how small my knowledge was. A few days later I saw the Dalai Lama again, and we talked as we had done before, he answering my thoughts. I went away with enough food for thought to last me many years."

We can easily believe that last. The doctor witnessed all the Hindoo miracles and thinks their priests have got on the inside of nature's law and mastered the occult.

A POLITICIAN'S HELPMEET.

Mrs. Thomas C. Platt Is a Woman of More Than Ordinary Ability.

Mrs. Thomas C. Platt is interesting to most Americans only as the wife of New York's ex senator and great political leader, but as Mrs. Ellen Barston Platt she is beloved by a circle of personal friends. Before marriage, and that was many years ago, she was notably attractive as Miss Ellen L. Barston. Now she is the mother of three big sons, of whom two are married, and her most enjoyable recreation is a romp with her little granddaughter and namesake. She has other grandchildren of both sexes, and what with her own sons some of the family are always with her.

Mr. and Mrs. Platt live at the Fifth Avenue hotel in New York city, and their commodious rooms overlook Madison square, but New York often asks why a couple of such wealth and standing do not maintain an establishment of their own. The reason given is that they have had to travel a great deal, and that so long as Mr. Platt remains in politics this hotel is most convenient for him, as it is a sort of social headquarters for Republicans as the Hoffman House is for Democrats. She is a tall, matronly woman, with keen dark eyes, dark hair now streaked with gray, a very pleasant face, doubly pleasant when she smiles, a low, sweet voice and a most attractive laugh.

And she does not like to be called "Mrs. Tom" Platt. She thinks women should have the ballot, and until they get it they are certainly entitled to the use of their own names. Neither is she "in politics." She takes a very lively interest therein, because Mr. Platt makes politics his chief amusement, reads the leading papers carefully, knows all his plans and is his trusted adviser. The 12 years they have lived at the Fifth Avenue hotel have been full of experience for them.

FLORENCE E. DAVIS.

HARRISON DAVIS, of Tompkinsville, Monroe Co., Ky., writes as follows: "My daughter, Miss Florence E. Davis, had been addicted for several years with a cough and lung trouble, and tried several remedies but none seemed to do her any good. I bought a bottle of your 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Pellets' and commenced giving them according to directions. In a few days was past doing and now she is perfectly well and the cough is gone. I am thankful to you for such a wonderful medicine." Sold by druggists.

THE PRESIDENT COMING TO MIDDLETOWN.

The Sick May Receive Medical Services Free of Charge.

The President and members of the European and American Staff of German, English, Irish, Scandinavian and American Doctors of New York city will be at the Russell House, Middletown, on one day only. The sick and afflicted may consult them without charge during their stay.

Wednesday, October 17th,

If you are incurable they will tell you; therefore invalids must not take offence if they are rejected, as no case will be accepted unless there is a moral certainty of a cure being effected. These Doctors are graduates of the best universities of Europe and America; they are of the highest standing in the medical profession and have had unlimited experience in the treatment of all Chronic Diseases and Deformities. As the latest methods, instruments and appliances of the various schools of both the Old and the New World are familiar to and at the command of this staff of doctors, it is reasonable to believe that in ninety cases out of every hundred a cure can be effected, even when the patients have been given up as incurable by doctors who have had less experience. Do not be discouraged because your doctor cannot give you relief, or even if he tells you that you cannot get well, for it matters not what your disease may be, you can consult the doctors free, and, if curable, they will treat you; if incurable, they will give you such advice as will tend to prolong life and afford you the greatest relief.

The doctor will visit Middletown one day each month Office hours from 10 a. m. to 6 p. m.

W. H CLARK, Chairman.

TOWN OF GREENVILLE

The Democrats of the town of Greenville are requested to meet at the hotel of S Polhamus, in said town Tuesday evening, Oct. 9th, at 7:30 o'clock, to choose delegates to represent them in the Congressional, County and Assembly District Conventions.

By order of the Town Committee.

TOWN OF MINISINK.

The Democrats of the town of Minisink will meet at Chardavoyne's Hall, in the village of Westtown, Tuesday afternoon, Oct. 9th, at 2 o'clock, to choose delegates to the Congressional, County and Assembly District Conventions.

By order of Town Committee

The calls for the Congressional and County Conventions will be found at the head of our columns. The Congressional Convention will be held in this city, Thursday, Oct. 11th, and the County Convention in Goshen, Saturday, Oct. 13th.

At a meeting of Ulster county Populists, held in Kingston, Wednesday night, it was decided to place in nomination candidates for the Assembly and county officers and to nominate aldermen in all the wards of Kingston city.

The Republican convention of Chenango county balloted thirty times before it selected a candidate for Sheriff from the thirty aspirants for the office. George W. Payne was the convention's choice. Mr. Holmes was nominated for County Clerk, David Sherwood for Member of Assembly and L. C. Andrews for Coroner.

Since wool was made free by the new tariff law there has been a marked advance in the price of all domestic grades, the advance ranging, according to the figures of the Wool and Cotton Reporter, from one to three cents a pound. Under McKinleyism the prices of wool steadily declined. It was protected to death, but Republicans tried to make wool growers believe that nothing but protection was saving wool from selling for the merest trifle. Even now, in the face of higher prices, Republican conventions are passing resolutions calling down curses on the Democratic party for taking the tax off wool. It will not be long, however, before the wool growers of the United States realize that free wool is the greatest blessing that could have been bestowed on them.

The constitutional amendment which prohibits book making and pool selling and requires the Legislature to pass appropriate laws to prevent such offenses, has aroused the active opposition of horse owners and track owners and of members of racing associations and county agricultural societies, for even those societies which do not make speed contents a feature of their fairs profit by the division of the proceeds of the Ives pool tax among the agricultural societies of the State. The anti-pool law amendment is not submitted separately and the opposition to it that is being organized will cost the amendments many votes. No doubt pool selling and book making have been productive of evil but constitution-tinkers and law makers, who propose to reform human nature by legal enactment are beginning at the wrong end.

A Republican exchange remarks that "Republican enthusiam has received no check." Mr. Morton should be notified at once.—Albany Argus.

IT'S EASY TO BE MISTAKEN.

Was Sure Her Watch and Pocketbook Had Been Stolen.

A lady came to Police Headquarters, this morning, and reported that her watch and pocketbook had been stolen from under her pillow, after she had left her bed.

Later, she reported that she had found her watch on the bureau under a pin cushion, but that the purse was still missing. Before noon the missing purse was returned to her. It had been taken by her mother who had risen early to take the train to Slate Hill and who returned at the earliest opportunity.

An Unusual Find.

At an early hour, this morning, when Sergeant White was going home to breakfast, he found an almost new cutaway coat of good quality, on the sidewalk at Wickham avenue.

A search through the pockets brought to light a memorandum book which, though it did not contain the owner's name, served as a clue to his identity and the garment was restored to him.

Which Would You Rather Wear? A Cold or An Overcoat?

There can be little choice, for no one wants a cold, and even if they did, the attractiveness of those overcoats of ours would speedily change their minds. We used to pride ourselves on our overcoats, but we've surpassed ourselves this year. Never did we offer the values in overcoats we do now. They're so much cheaper—better goods also. Then there is a new wrinkle in linings. We use clay diagonal now—more genteel—wears better. Better see 'em.

Then there's our suits—but you know their quality. We need only to remind you of the great variety of them; in prices, also.

HYMENEAL.

Williams—Tether.

From Our Amity Correspondent.

The home of Mr. E. G. Tether, of near Amity, was the scene of a happy event, on Wednesday afternoon. The occasion was a reception given by Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Tether in honor of the marriage of their only daughter, Miss Eva, to Mr. L. B. Williams, of Florida.

The ceremony took place at 1 o'clock in the presence of about 130 relatives and acquaintances and was performed by Dr. D F. Bonner, of Florida. The parlors were decorated with evergreens and the bridal couple stood beneath an arch of evergreens and white dahlias.

The wedding party was ushered into the parlor by Messrs. Floyd Tether and Henry Bennett, the former a brother of the bride and the latter a cousin of the groom. Miss Jennie Gormley, of Pompton, N. J., a cousin of the bride, played the wedding march. The bride was attired in a gown of steel colored silk with a veil en train and carried a bouquet of white roses. The traveling dress was brown colored serge. After the ceremony and congratulations the party repaired to the dining room where an elaborate wedding dinner was served.

After the dinner the newly made bride and groom took their departure, amid showers of rice, for an evening train from Warwick, for a short wedding tour, after which it is understood they will make their home on his farm near Florida.

A number of valuable and useful presents gave substantial evidence that these couple carry with them the warm friendship of many people.

OBITUARY.

THE JOCKEY MINSTRELS.

A Street Parade in Which Two Careless Jockeys Came to Grief.

Mollie Whitten's Jockey Minstrels which appear at the Casino, to-night, paraded at noon, some in carriages and some on horseback and attracted much notice,—from the men.

For jockeys the ladies seemed to know little about horses. They lacked confidence and besides they hadn't looked well to their saddle girths, and thus it was that two of them came to grief. Miss Whitten's saddle turned on Highland avenue and she fell to the ground. The same mishap occurred to Miss Drayton when opposite the Commercial. Miss Drayton made a good landing but her horse got away and, running up the street, collided with the band wagon, knocking out the bass drummer and stunning itself so that it fell to the ground. It was soon got on its feet.

The company is a strong one, thirty-two in all. There are thirteen women. Miss Whitten isn't superstitious and says so many companies are having bad luck she concluded to try and see if thirteen wouldn't change luck for her.

TESTING PHŒNIX'S HAND ENGINE

The Old Machine Given a Trial in Presence of Newburgh Firemen.

Two members of the Newburgh Fire Department were in town, yesterday, looking over the old hand engine of Phœnix Engine Co. to see if it was fit to enter in the contest of hand engines at the Newburgh tournament.

Last evening, the engine was hauled to the tannery pond, among those on the rope being J. E. Iseman and C. J. Thayer, two of the charter members of the company.

The engine has not been used in a long time yet she responded to the pumps promptly and sent out a good stream. With a little overhauling the old machine will be able to take part in the tournament, provided of course that forty men, which is her complement, can be induced to man the pumps.

Waalkill's Dance.

Waalkill Engine Company gave a dance at their engine house, last evening. The attendance was large and all had a good time, as may well be imagined when the festivities were kept up until 3 o'clock this morning.

Berg's orchestra furnished the music for dancing. A lunch was served at midnight.

Katzinger's Millinery Opening.

Katzinger's New Idea millinery store began its three days' fall opening yesterday. The stock of millinery and fancy goods displayed is a fine one. A glance at the millinery window, where hats of every color and all new shapes are shown, will give a faint idea of what is offered for sale inside.

GEORGE WALKER RESIGNS.

After Twenty-three Years of Faithful Service With the O. and W. Road—To Engage in Other Business

After twenty-three years of service on the O. and W. road, Mr. George T. Walker, Traveling Freight, Passenger and Milk Agent, has resigned his position, the resignation taking effect yesterday.

Mr. Walker entered the employment of the old New York and Oswego Midland road on April 1st, 1871, as brakeman, and has been with that company and its successor, the N. Y., O and W. Company, ever since, rising gradually through the grades of baggageman and conductor to traveling agent, which position he has held for several years, giving the utmost satisfaction to the company and to the public, with whom he was in direct contact at all times.

There are many friends of Mr. Walker in Middletown and along the line who will regret his retirement from the service of the road. He was always courteous and obliging and, while looking after the interests of the road, pleased the public at the same time.

Mr. Walker's friends will be interested in his intentions for the future. He has become a member of the firm of W. C. A. Witt & Co., of 404 West Thirty-first street, New York, and will engage in the milk business. The firm consists of W. C. A. Witt, of New York, Mr. Edward Tompkins and Mr. George T. Walker, both of this city.

The firm has creameries at Mountain Dale, Sullivan county; Hamden and LeLancey, Delaware county, and Holmesville, Chenango county, and expects to establish more during the coming winter.

Mr. Walker's many friends, as well those of Mr. Tompkins, will wish the new firm an abundant success.

THE COMING BICYCLE RACES.

Over One Hundred Entries Already Made—Contests for Class Honors Between Rival Wheelmen.

The bicycle races, under the auspices of the Middletown Wheelmen's Association, to be held at the Campbell track, on Wednesday, Oct. 10th, will, if the weather does not again interfere, be one of the most interesting sporting events of the season.

There are already 104 entries made by the very best riders in Class A, which we may explain includes amateur riders in this State, or within 200 miles of the meet, who pay their own expenses, own their own wheels, race for prizes not exceeding $50 in value and are not employed or in any way subsidized by the manufacturers of wheels.

In this class, two of the fastest riders are Fred Royce, of Passaic, and George C. Smith, of New York, who are rivals for Class A honors, both of whom are entered for several of the events in these races.

Low Rates on the O and W. to the Temple Cup Game.

On account of the championship Temple Cup series between the New York and Baltimore base ball clubs to be played at the Polo Grounds, New York city, on Saturday, Oct. 6th, the N. Y., O. and W. R. R. Co. will sell tickets, including admission to the grounds, at $1.50 for round trip, good going and returning on same date. It is expected that over 25,000 people will witness these games.

A Quarter Century's Pastorate.

The twenty-fifth anniversary of the pastorate of Rev. J. G. D. Findley, of the United Presbyterian Church, in Newburgh, was celebrated Wednesday evening.

A number of clergymen were present, one of whom Rev. S. Searle in behalf of the congregation presented Rev. Mr. Findley with a purse of $200.

The Susquehanna's Blairstown Branch to Be Abandoned.

In connection with the rumored prospective purchase of the Pennsylvania, Poughkeepsie and Boston Road by the Vanderbilt interest, it is significantly stated that the Blairstown branch of the Susquehanna will soon be abandoned, so far as running to Delaware is concerned. Portland will be the connecting point.

City Officials Entertained by Excelsiors

Mayor Stansbury, Aldermen Dorrance, Funnell, Mance, Baldwin, Greene, Bowler and Luddington, Assistant Chiefs Higham and Schmidt, W. A. Vail and W. F. Bailey were present as invited guests.

A Grand Feature

Of Hood's Sarsaparilla is that while it purifies the blood and sends it coursing through the veins full of richness and health, it also imparts new life and vigor to every function of the body. Hence the expression so often heard: "Hood's Sarsaparilla made a new person of me." It overcomes that tired feeling so common now.

Hood's Pills are purely vegetable, perfectly harmless, always reliable and beneficial.

INCIDENTS AND HAPPENINGS IN GOSHEN.

Crystal Wedding of Rev. and Mrs. R. B. Clark—Easy Victory for the Goshen B. B. C.—Colored People's Picnic—Examining Teachers—Other Notes.

From Our Regular Correspondent.

—The crystal wedding reception of Rev. and Mrs. Robert B. Clark, last evening, was very largely attended, their beautiful residence on Church street and the grounds about it being none too large to accommodate their many guests, at least 400 in number. The house was beautifully decorated with palms and potted plants. Refreshments were served by a Paterson caterer in a large tent erected near and connected with the house. The presents were numerous and very valuable. Most of them were of cut glass of the finest quality. Among the gifts were a beautiful diamond pin for Mr. Clark and a diamond ring for Mrs. Clark. The ushers were Messrs. Ed. Hopkins, Ed. Price, J. B. Scott and W. W. Whiddit. Guests were present from New York, Middletown, Paterson, Chester, Warwick and other places. The Schumann Male Quartette furnished excellent vocal music and an orchestra from New York furnished fine instrumental music. Mr. and Mrs. Clark were the receipients of the heartiest congratulations and sincerest good wishes from all their friends, and if even the smallest fraction of the good things wished them are realized their years will be many and crowned with life's richest blessings.

—The Goshen ball club easily defeated the Florida club on the Driving Park, yesterday, by a score of 16 to 7. The Goshens play the Chester club, this afternoon, on the same grounds.

—The colored people of this village and vicinity will hold a picnic at Glenmere Lake, Thursday, Oct. 11th. A cake walk will be the special attraction.

—Mr. J. Jonas and family are spending a few days in town. Mr. Jonas will open a clothing store in Walden about Oct. 11th.

—Miss Mamie White, of Sussex, England, who has been visiting in the South for some months, is spending a few weeks with her uncle, Jas. Scott, before returning to England.

—W. C. Altman is laying the foundation for a large barn, over 100 feet long, for Hon. W. P. Richardson. It will be erected opposite his residence on the Middletown road.

—School Commissioner Clark is examining teachers, to-day, at the county building for second and third grade certificates. The examination of applicants for second grade certificates will be continued, to-morrow.

—A special meeting of Goshen Council, A. O. F., will be held at their rooms, to-night.

Converts to the Prohibition Cause.

The New York Voice, in its last issue, published the following from Middletown, headed, "Converts to be proud of: Prohibitionists here are proud of some new converts: Dr. Darwood, Methodist minister; F. S. Stevens, of the Baptist Church; J. J. McGarvey, a Roman Catholic and Charles W. Tuthill."

Low Prices at a Farm Auction.

At the auction sale of of C. H. Van Blarcom, at Neelytown, Wednesday, one horse sold for $5 50, another for $8.50 and the third for $28. Baled timothy hay brought $14 a ton, and loose of various qualities from $8 upwards.

A VETERAN'S VERDICT.

The War is Over. A Well-known Soldier, Correspondent and Journalist Makes a Disclosure.

Indiana contributed her thousands of brave soldiers to the war, and no state bears a better record in that respect than it does. In literature it is rapidly acquiring an honorable place. In war and literature Solomon Yewell, well known as a writer as "Sol," has won an honorable position. During the late war he was a member of Co. M, 2d U. S. Cavalry and of the 13th Indiana Infantry Volunteers. Regarding an important circumstance he writes as follows:

"Several of us old veterans here are using Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine, Heart Cure and Nerve and Liver Pills, all of them giving splendid satisfaction. In fact, we have never used remedies that compare with them. Of the Pills we must say they are the best combination of the qualities required in a preparation of their nature we have ever known. We have no but words of praise for them. They are the outgrowth of a new principle in medicine, and tone up the system wonderfully. We say to all, try these remedies."—Solomon Yewell, Marion, Ind., Dec. 5, 1892.

Dr. Miles' remedies are sold by all druggists on a positive guarantee or sent direct by the Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of price, $1 per bottle, six bottles $5, express prepaid. They positively contain neither opiates nor dangerous drugs.

THREE YEARS OLD.

What is it like, I wonder, to roam
Down through the tall grass hidden quite?
To feel very far away from home
When the dear house is out of sight?

To want to play with the broken moon
In the star garden of the skies?
To sleep through twilight eves of June
Beneath the sound of lullabys?

To hold up hurts for all to see?
Sob at imaginary fears?
To clasp in welcome a father's knee
And fit so well to a mother's arms?

To have life bounded by one dull road,
A wood and a pond, and to feel no lack?
To gaze with pleasure upon a toad
And caress a mud turtle's horny back?

To follow the robin's cheerful hop,
With all the salt small hands can hold,
And coaxingly entreat it to stop—
What is it like to be three years old?

Ah! once I knew, but 'twas long ago—
I try to recall it in vain, in vain!—
And now I know I shall never know
What it is to be a child again.

MARKED IN BLOOD.

On Sept. 17 the inspector of police at the Kennington Road police station was preparing to go home, it being 8 a. m. and his night duty over, when he was stopped by an elderly woman, who rushed into the room and cried:

"Oh, do send some one, sir, to 118 Wernham road. My poor old master's been cruelly murdered. He's lying in his room in a pool of blood like a river. It must have been done in the night. Do come at once, sir."

On the way to Wernham road the inspector questioned the housekeeper.

"Who sleeps in the house besides yourself and the old gentleman?" he asked.

"Not a blessed soul, sir," cried Mrs. Masters. "Only me and my poor old master. Sich a nice, regular man as he was, comin 'ome every night to 'is tea and always in bed by 10 o'clock. Oh, it's a cruel thing!"

"Did any one visit him last night that you know of?" asked the inspector.

"Not that I know of, sir, but to tell you the truth I was in bed myself early last night, 'avin a bad attack of 'eadache. The old gentleman always let 'imself in with 'is latchkey, as he nat'rally would. He come to bed after I was asleep, for I never 'eard 'im come in.

"His supper was always laid out ready for 'im in the dinin room, and he wouldn't want no waitin on, so there was nothin wrong in my bein off to bed as I did, 'avin, as I said, a bad 'eadache and bein very subject to sick 'eadaches, which, as you may know, sir, are very unpleasant, to say the least of them, and"——

"Was the supper eaten?" said the inspector, interrupting the woman's eloquence.

"Well, sir, to say the truth, I've not thought of lookin. Directly I see 'im a-lyin there I off to the station as 'ard as I can go. I can't sleep in the place tonight. That I can't."

By this time they had reached the house and went upstairs. The inspector and his man went in and locked the door behind them. A knock was heard at the door.

"Can I come in?" said Mrs. Masters.

"Certainly," replied the inspector. "Open the door, Jenkins. We shall want her no doubt."

"Poor, dear man!" cried the lady again when she saw the body of the old man. "The monsters!" She burst into tears.

"You had better go for a surgeon," said Mr Bevis to the constable. "He ought to see the body as soon as possible, as we shall want his report on it."

While the man was gone the inspector, accompanied by Mrs. Masters, visited every room in the house. Everything was orderly and untouched.

The assassin must have left the place by the ordinary means of egress, for all the windows were locked. The front door, Mrs. Masters told the inspector, would no doubt have been unbolted in any case, for Mr. Mayne (her master, the man who lay dead) never bolted it if he let himself in, leaving her to do so.

They reached the dining room and found that the supper had been eaten. The bottle of ale was finished, there remaining only a small portion in the tumbler. The old man had evidently made a hearty meal and gone to his room.

The constable returned in half an hour with a divisional surgeon, Mr. Brooks. That gentleman made a minute examination of the corpse and said that the cause of death was a little wound in one of the veins of the thigh.

The old man must have bled to death, and the process of dying must have been prolonged. He should have had an opportunity of calling for help. Mrs. Masters was certain, however, that he had not done so.

"I'm a light sleeper, gentlemen," she said, addressing the three men, "and the slightest thing wakes me. If he'd called out at the door, I must have 'eard 'im. It's a certainty."

"Quite so," said the surgeon. "I have no doubt, my good woman, that you are not at all to blame, but we shall, of course, go further into the thing at the inquest. At present there seems nothing to show by whose hand the old man died."

"What's that book doing there?" said the inspector abruptly, pointing to a dictionary which lay close to the old man. It was not beside him, but on a chair just above his head.

"A dictionary apparently," said the surgeon, glancing at it. "By Jove!" he cried excitedly as he turned over the leaves. "What's this? Every now and then I come to a word against which there is a mark in blood. This is strange."

"Is it blood or red ink, sir?" asked Mrs. Masters. "I know my poor old master used to study a good deal, and it's just possible he's been putting words down in that book which he might want to look up again."

"There's no mistaking—it's blood," said the surgeon, holding the book toward the light, "and fresh blood too. If I'm not very much mistaken, this is some sort of clew to the mystery."

The inspector took the book from the surgeon and glanced at it keenly.

"Upon my word," he cried, "I believe you're right. There seems something methodical in these occasional marks of blood against certain words. This is going to be interesting."

* * * * * *

At the coroner's inquest the following report from Inspector Bevis was put in, but read privately, as the information contained therein would have been harmful to the negotiations of the detectives who were running the suspected man to death.

It ran as follows:

On the morning of Sept. 17 of this year I was called to 118 Wernham road, Kennington lane, at which house Richard Mayne, the deceased, resided.

After making all the necessary arrangements Mr. Brookes, the surgeon called my attention to a large dictionary which was on a chair within reach of the deceased. Throughout the book certain words were marked in blood.

Thinking this strange, I made an investigation of the book, which was an ordinary dictionary, evidently used by the deceased in connection with his literary work.

I determined on a plan of setting down on paper every word indicated by the crimson mark, on doing which I had the following list, which I give in the order in which I discovered them, going systematically through the dictionary:

"Masters goodby to my I invention oldest communicated for cannot dictionary is plans friend to the move has him dynamo from in murdered the I here me details intended to tonight foolishly plans of to getting my patent or indicate next paper the dull new month so mark this murderer street dying his borough property name he drawings Whitelaw stolen I house has stone Jasper blood to my I."

On going over this for some time I began piece by piece to put it together. I picked out first of all two words which seemed conspicuous—namely, "Jasper" and "Borough." Evidently the first was the name of the man connected with the deed, and the second was the district in London known by that name.

I next picked on the word "dull," which as an ordinary adjective seemed out of place in such a dying speech, and I at once remembered the street called "Dull street," which was situated in the borough. There seemed no doubt that the address given was in Dull street borough. So far so good.

Finding no other use for the words "stone" and "house," I ventured to use them as the name of residence in Dull street, which made my information read, "Stone house, Dull street, borough." On looking up the street surely enough I found the corner house called by that name.

After many hours' toil, twisting and turning, I at length got the words put into some sort of shape, and this is how they read:

"Jasper Whitelaw stone house Dull street borough has murdered me tonight foolishly my oldest friend all my drawings he has stolen plans property I communicated to him the details and plans of my new invention for the dynamo to patent next month I intended to get ink or paper cannot move from here and mark this so in dictionary my blood to indicate the murderer his name is I am dying all Masters goodby I I."

On going over this again I transposed certain words, putting the first two words, "Jasper Whitelaw," after the phrase, "murderer is," which made the lines read more clearly. In the end, after great labor, I arrived at the following, which I submit for the consideration of the authorities:

"My oldest friend has murdered me tonight. Foolishly I communicated to him the details and plans of my new invention for the dynamo I intended to patent next month. I cannot move from here to get ink or paper and so mark this dictionary in my blood to indicate the murderer. His name is Jasper Whitelaw, stone house, Dull street, Borough. All my plans and drawings he has stolen. I am dying. All property to Masters. Goodby."

The above is my report. To this I have nothing further to add. Attached hereto are the dictionary, my rough drafts of the solution and all the memoranda I made to assist me in the search. JOHN DAVIS BEVIS.

This report was read privately, and the detectives went to work at once. The man Whitelaw was captured at the patent office, where he was in the very act of filing his application for the patent of the new dynamo machine.

At his lodgings in Dull street the papers and plans belonging to Mayne were found. Finding himself surrounded by testimony which seemed to come from the grave he made a full confession.

It seemed that he had met his friend, Mr. Mayne, on the evening in question. After sundry drinks together Mayne became communicative and eventually asked the other to come to his house. Here he explained to him the details of his invention.

Carried away as he was by the excitement produced by the liquor, he told all to the man, whom he trusted implicity. But Whitelaw, seeing the prospect of a mighty fortune in the use of the patent, had stabbed the old man with his large pocketknife and left him on the floor bleeding to death, making his escape easily and without hindrance by the front door.—Exchange.

Polite.

Relations of courtesy between physician and patient are always pleasant to see. It is related that Dr. B. of Boston and Mr. S., an old fashioned merchant who was his patient, were both very polite men, though the doctor was somewhat embarrassed in manner and occasionally made queer remarks inadvertently.

Mr. S. at last came to his deathbed and had but an hour to live. He was, however, extremely calm and collected.

The doctor came and sat at his bedside awhile. He had other patients who needed him.

"Go, go, doctor; don't let me keep you," said the dying man.

"Ah, not me you," said the doctor, nervously rising.—Youth's Companion.

CHAPTER I.

"Thank you, Mary" said the young man in trembling accents. "Oh, how can I ever thank you enough? Here for weeks you have been in the society of brilliant military men, and you have not yet lost your liking for a poor civilian like me."

"George, dear," she said, "nothing could ever shake my love for you."

CHAPTER II.

It was the night of the ball. The parlors of Mrs. Van Bilt were a dazzling vista of beauteous shoulders and the costumes of men of rank.

George and Mary met in the conservatory.

He eyed her questioningly. "Mary, have you forgotten me? Twenty counts and four noblemen have been at your feet all the evening."

"What do I care for the nobility," she said, "so long as you are here"

CHAPTER III.

"Yes, I am a football player."

Mary looked with eager eyes upon the manly figure which confronted her. A moment later they were in an animated conversation.

Looking over his shoulder Mary saw George approaching.

"Quick," she said hastily, "let us get out of the way of this man."

CHAPTER IV.

The next morning George received a package. They were the presents she had sent him.—Chicago Record.

A Good Judge.

A cattle dealer arrived in Paris the other day, with the intention of having his portrait painted in oils. He applied to an artist near the Madeleine and in concluding the bargain dwelt strongly on his wish that the likeness should be striking and unmistakable. The painter promised that it should be so.

"Indeed," he added, "I will appeal to the most disinterested judge possible—to your own bulldog. We will show him the picture and see whether he recognizes you."

Accordingly when the picture was finished it was brought into the dealer's lodging, placed on the floor, and the dog was called in. He instantly ran up to the portrait and began to lick it, wagging his tail and showing every sign of delighted affection. The grateful dealer, convinced of the accuracy of the likeness, instantly paid down the sum demanded by the artist, quite unconscious of the fact that the "counterfeit presentment" of his manly features had been well rubbed with a bit of bacon.—Tit-Bits.

Where Delay Was Dangerous.

A husband who had been out shooting, but who had not been successful, rather than return home empty handed stepped into a shop and purchased a hare. There, my ducky," he said to his wife on returning home, "you see I am not so awkward with the gun, after all."

"Let me see."

"Isn't he a fine fellow?"

"My dear," said the wife as she carried the animal to her nostrils and put it down with a grimace, "you were quite right in killing him today. Tomorrow it would have been too late."—French Exchange.

STATE OF NEW YORK,

Office of the Secretary of State,

ALBANY, AUGUST 4, 1894.

Pursuant to the provisions of section seven, chapter six hundred and eighty, Laws of eighteen hundred and ninety-two, notice is hereby given that the following proposed amendment to article six of the Constitution of the State of New York will be submitted to the people of the said State, for the purpose of voting thereon at the next general election in this State, to be held on the sixth day of November, eighteen hundred and ninety-four.

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION.

Proposing amendment to article six of the Constitution of this state in relation to County Judges and Court of Sessions in the county of Kings.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly do enact as follows:

Whereas, At the last session of the Legislature, the following amendment was proposed in the Senate and Assembly, viz:

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That article six of the Constitution of this state be amended by adding thereto the following section:

"§ 32. There shall be in the county of Kings two county judges, each of whose term of office shall be six years. The county judge in office at the adoption of this amendment shall hold office until the expiration of the term for which he was elected. The additional county judge shall be elected at the general election held next after the adoption of this amendment, and his term of office shall begin on the first day of January thereafter. When the official term of any county judge of said county will expire by the effluxion of time or the disability of age, the successor of such judge shall be chosen at the preceding general election. Vacancies otherwise occuring in said offices shall be filled in the same manner as vacancies in the Supreme Court. The salary of said county judge shall be as now established by law for county judge in said county. Their powers and jurisdiction shall be co-ordinate and co-equal. One or more parts of the county court may be held in said county. The court of sessions in the county of Kings is continued with the powers and jurisdiction it now possesses, and with such additional powers and jurisdiction as may be conferred by the Legislature; it must be held by a county judge of the county, and may hold one or more parts."

And whereas, The said proposed amendment was agreed to by a majority of the members elected to each of the two houses of the said Legislature, entered on the journals, with the yeas and nays taken thereon, and referred to the Legislature to be chosen at the then next general election of senators.

And, whereas, Such election has taken place and said proposed amendment was duly published for three months previous to the time of making such choice, in pursuance of the provisions of article thirteen of the Constitution; therefore,

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the Assembly do agree to the proposed amendment.

STATE OF NEW YORK,
IN SENATE, April 26, 1894.

This bill was read the third time and passed, a majority of all the Senators elected voting in favor thereof, three-fifths being present.

STATE OF NEW YORK,

Office of the Secretary of State,

ALBANY, AUUUST 4, 1894.

Pursuant to the provisions of section seven, chapter six hundred and eighty, Laws of eighteen hundred and ninety-two, notice is hereby given that the following proposed amendment to article six of the Constitution of the State of New York will be submitted to the people of the said State, for the purpose of voting thereon at the next general election in this State, to be held on the sixth day of November, eighteen hundred and ninety-four:

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION.

Proposing amendment to article six of the Constitution, relating to the election of additional justices of the Supreme Court.

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the sixth article of the Constitution be amended by adding thereto the following section:

"§ 30. The Legislature, at the first session thereof after the adoption of this amendment, shall provide for the election at the general election next after the adoption of this amendment, by the electors of the first judicial district, of not more than two justices of the Supreme Court in addition to the justices of that court now in office in said judicial district; by the electors of the second judicial district, of not more than two justices of the Supreme Court in addition to the justices of that court now in office in said judicial district. The justices so elected in the first and second judicial districts, respectively, shall be invested with their offices on the first Monday of January next after their election."

STATE OF NEW YORK,
IN SENATE, April 26, 1894.

THE COMMON COUNCIL.

BUSINESS TRANSACTED AT LAST NIGHT'S REGULAR MEETING

Phœnix to Take Its Apparatus to Newburgh—Beacon Street Extension—Title Not in the City—No Pavement for Benton Avenue—Barbers May Shave on Sunday—Sidewalk Improvements Ordered—Extension North Street Sewer—Other Business.

A regular meeting of the Common Council was held at the Corporation Rooms, last evening, present, President Dorrance, and Aldermen Luddington. Funnell, Mance, Sinsabaugh, Reed and Greene, both Aldermen from the Third Ward being absent.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

Mr. C. M. Winchester appeared in behalf of Phœnix Engine Company requesting the Council's permission to take their apparatus to Newburgh, Oct. 17th and 18th. He also asked that the Fire Committee be empowered to purchase a false cover for the reel of their hose carriage. Both requests were granted.

THE BEACON STREET EXTENSION.

Messrs. R. M. Rorty and William H. Keeler appeared in behalf of the residents of Beacon street, requesting the Council to take some immediate action toward opening the street. The commission which had been appointed in the matter had made its report, the assessment had been made and in most instances paid. Mr. Rorty had understood that a petition or remonstrance of some kind had been filed by Mrs. Lydia Sayer Hasbrouck, which to him seemed a most extraordinary thing, as Mrs. Hasbrouck was the person who would receive the greatest benefit from the opening of the street.

The matter was the subject of considerable discussion later in the evening between the Aldermen and City Attorney Wiggins, and the latter was instructed to investigate the rights of the city in the matter.

Mr. S. Albert Bull did not think that Bull & Youngblood should be assessed the full cost of a manhole in the Albert street sewer. Other property owners would be benefitted by the sewer and should pay their share.

THE TITLE NOT IN THE CITY.

Mr. A. V. Boak wanted to know "where we are at" in regard to the lot on Chestnut street. The transfer to Mrs Williamson had been authorized, but it was discovered that the Mayor could not sign the document, as the title was vested in Theron N. Little, as trustee. He urged the Council to take immediate action, as until the title was clear, Mrs. Williamson's house could not be moved, and the work of opening Cornelia street could not proceed. Later, a resolution was passed directing Mr. Little to transfer all properties held by him as trustee to the city.

Mr. C. M. Winchester wanted Lake avenue attended to. It was in a very bad condition and should be fixed. The President informed him that the matter had been referred to the Street Committee.

NEW ROPE FOR WALLKILL'S CARRIAGE.

Chief Thorpe requested permission to purchase 200 feet of rope for Wallkill's parade carriage, the present rope being too short to accommodate all the members of the company while on a march. The request was granted.

SAM BEASLEY'S SMASHED WAGON.

Mr. L. C. Terwilliger wanted to know to whom he should present the bill for repairs to Samuel Beasley's wagon, which was broken by Eagle's patrol wagon. He was told to present it to Mr. Beasley; that if the latter had a grievance against the city let him present it to the city.

NO PAVEMENT FOR BENTON AVENUE.

The clerk then read a petition from Messrs. S. H. Bodine, Daniel Finn, W. C. F. Bastian and F. S. Truex renewing the request made some time ago that Benton avenue be paved.

Alderman Mance moved that the street be paved and Alderman Greene seconded the motion.

Alderman Reed arose and stated that as a resident of the street he was opposed to the movement. The question of a sewer should be settled and the sewer built before a brick was laid. He could not see why it was necessary to pave the street at this time. That the signers of the petition do not represent a majority of the residents of the street. Those who favored the scheme are the wealthy residents, while those opposed were working men who are not able at this time to stand the expense of a costly pavement.

The question was finally put and the following is the result of the vote:

Noes, Funnell, Luddington, Reed, Sinsabaugh; ayes, Mance, Dorrance and Greene. The scheme was therefore killed.

The property owners on West Hanford street petitioned for flagging on the east side of the street where not already flagged.

NOTICE TO CLOSE THE BARBER SHOPS.

A petition signed by nearly all the barbers in town requested the Council to pass an ordinance ordering all barbers to close their places of business on Sundays. None of the Aldermen could see how an ordinance of that kind could be passed without including all lines of business, such as cigar and confectionery stores and newsstands, and the petition died for want of a single champion.

RELEASE OF BONNELL STREET.

The following property owners signed a release of Bonnell street in consideration of one dollar, and asked the city to accept the same:

T. W. Davey, G. S. Black, M. A. Williamson, J. W. Sloat, W. T. Grigge, E. Davey and P. J. Conkling.

An invitation to accompany Wallkill Engine Company was accepted. The action of the fire companies at recent meetings was confirmed.

Crosswalks were ordered on the easterly side of Charles street near Prospect avenue, and on Highland avenue and at the northerly end of W. H. Knapp's lot.

SIDEWALK IMPROVEMENTS.

Resolutions ordering the property owners on the northeast side of Prospect street between Linden and Highland avenues to relay their pavements where necessary, and the property owners on the same side of the same street, between North street and Wickham avenue to curb and flag their sidewalks, were passed.

EXTENSION OF NORTH STREET SEWER.

The matter of the extension of the North street sewer was referred to the Sewer Committee. Residents on the west side of the street want it badly, but unless placed at a depth of twelve to fourteen feet it would be worthless to the property owners on the east side of street, and therefore they don't want it, as they can at present sewer into Draper brook. Several suggestions were offered as a solution of the difficulty, and it was referred as above stated.

Drafts for $50 each were ordered for the two Grand Army Posts, and for $350 to Chief Thorpe for the fire parade, in accordance with the appropriations made last spring.

Wallkill Engine Company had paid $23.05 for papering its palors and thought city should reimburse the company. A draft was ordered.

THRALL HOSPITAL APPROPRIATION.

The appropriation of $1,200 for Thrall Hospital was turned over to the Mayor with power to adjust the matter with the managers of the hospital. It was understood that when the appropriation was made, the city was to have a bed in the institution, but so far it has paid for all accommodations it has had.

A draft of $10,000 was ordered for the Board of Education on account.

East Main street, between Grand and Horton avenues, was ordered to be graded and curbed and placed in proper condition.

WATER COMMISSIONERS ORDERED TO REPORT.

Alderman Greene's resolution ordering the Board of Water Commissioners to file its annual report, was carried. The Clerk said the report should have been filed last April.

MISCELLANOUS BUSINESS.

The matter of a street lamp on Harrison street was referred to the Lighting Committee with power to act.

A resolution was passed ordering the clerk to notify all property owners to repair sidewalks where necessary.

The engineer was ordered to make a profile of the North street sewer extension.

A resolution refunding overpaid taxes to Patrick Scully was passed.

The Mayor was authorized to sign a contract with the New York and New Jersey Globe Gas Light Co. for one year from June 1st, '94, at $21 50 per lamp. The previous resolution passed Aug. 8th was rescinded.

The clerk was ordered to advertise a hearing in the matter of the Albert street sewer for Monday evening, Oct. 22.

The Hanford street petition was referred to the Street Committee.

Rebecca Wilkinson, of Brownsvalley, Ind., says: "I have been in a distressed condition for three years from nervousness, weakness of the stomach, dyspepsia and indigestion until my health was gone. I had been doctoring constantly with no relief. I bought one bottle of South American Nervine, which did me more good than any $50 worth of doctoring I ever did in my life. I would advise every weakly person to use this valuable and lovely medicine; a few bottles of it have cured me completely. I consider it the grandest medicine in the world." Warranted the most wonderful stomach and nerve cure ever known. Sold by J. E. Mills Middletown, N. Y.

WORKING WOMEN.

THEIR HARD STRUGGLE

Made Easier by the Timely Intervention of One Woman,

[SPECIAL TO OUR LADY READERS.]

All women work. Some in their homes, some in church, and some in the whirl of society. Many in stores, mills, and shops, tens of thousands are on the never ceasing treadmill earning their daily food.

All are subject to the same physical laws; all suffer alike from the same physical disturbance; and the nature of their duties in many cases quickly drifts them into the horrors of all kinds of female complaints —ovarian troubles, inflammation, ulceration, falling and displacement of the womb, leucorrhœa, or perhaps irregularity or suppression of "monthly periods"—causing severe backache, nervousness, irritability and lassitude.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the unfailing cure for all these troubles. It strengthens the proper muscles and displacement with all its horrors will no more crush you.

Backache, dizziness, fainting, bearing down, disordered stomach, moodiness, dislike of friends and society—all symptoms of the one cause—will be quickly dispelled, and you will again be free. Accept the truth

You can tell the story of your pain to a woman, and get the help that only a woman can give. Her address is, Lydia E. Pinkham. Lynn, Mass.

Relief in Six Hours.

Distressing Kidney and Bladder diseases relieved in six hours by the "New Great South American Kidney Cure." This new remedy is a great surprise on account of its exceeding promptness in relieving pain in the bladder, kidneys, back and every part of the uninary passages in male or female. It relieves retention of water and pain in passing it almost immediately. If you want quick relief and cure this is your remedy. Sold by J. E. Mills, druggist, Middletown, N. Y.

From a Methodist Minister.

CLARKSON, N. Y., Nov. 1892.—"I have used Gilmore's Aromatic Wine in my family, and for a debilitated system there is nothing to equal it in restoring vigor and strength, and for female weakness it stands without a rival. I most heartily recommend it to all who may be suffering from chronic malaria or biliousness."—Rev. E. J. Whitney. All druggists sell Gilmore's Aromatic Wine at $1.00 per bottle
